COLLISION AT CONTICH

Three-Score Killed and Over a Hundred Injured in a Railway Smash-up in Belgium

Antwerp, May 22.—Owing to mistakes in signals two passenger trains collided yesterday near here. Twenty bodies have been taken from the ruins and sixty of the injured moved. Parties are still searching in the mass of wreckage for victims.

Accurate information as to the number of killed is unobtainable, but the latest reports place the dead at 60 and the injured at 100. Many of the injured will die.

The disaster appears to have been due to a defective switch where the main line crosses a local line. At this point a train carrying a large number of pilgrims on their way to the shrine at Turnhout was standing. Into this the Antwerp-Brussels express dashed at a speed of fifty miles an hour, literally leaping on top of it. The heavy coaches of the express crushed the lighter train into splinters. The sides of the express cars were torn from their fastenings, the doors practically collapsing, thus precipitating the passengers to the side of the track uninjured, whence they fled, frenzied across the fields. But for this fact the death toll would be much greater. Few of the occupants of the local train escaped alive. Those that were not killed, were badly injured, many of them mortally.

Even Doctors Sickened

The rescuers, even the doctors, were sickened at the sight that met their gaze. Evidences were found of horrible death struggles that occurred in the crushed coaches. In one place a dismembered hand was found clutching one of the supports of the torn car. One body was found lying across the boiler of the locomotive, crushed into a shapeless mass. The majority of the dead could not be recognized, either being decapitated or their heads being terribly crushed.

The signal man at Contich saw that his switch was not right just as the Antwerp express came thundering down the line. He leaped from the window of his signal station and heroically ran down the track towards the on-coming train, waving a red flag. His efforts, however, were too late to avert a disaster. The engineer and fireman of the express train were killed at their posts.

BLEW UP A BRIDGE

Some People Seem to Have it In for the N. Y., N. H. and H. R. R.

New York, May 22.—The new bridge under construction on the Harlem branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, at Bay Chester, was wrecked by dynamite yesterday.

A charge of fifty pounds of the explosive was discharged under the first span, twisting the huge girders, and practically wrecking the whole structure. Yesterday's outrage followed an unsuccessful attempt to wreck the bridge on the same railroad over Harlem river Wednesday.

HOLMES MURDERED BY HIGHWAYMEN

Chicago, Ill., May 22.—Robert C. P. Holmes, buyer for the Commonwealth Edison Electric Company, was garrotted by a highwayman in a downtown district last night. When found Holmes' pockets were inside out and all of his valuables were gone. His face and neck were marked by discolorations and a gaping wound appeared on his head. No trace of the murderer has been found. Holmes attended a meeting of the National Electric Light Association last night and when he left the hotel all trace of him was lost until his body was found.

COMMONER CATCHES MUCH COIN

Bryan's Presidential Campaign Will Give a Big Boom to His Paper

Chicago, May 22.—The Tribune publishes the following: "William Jennings Bryan could afford to pay $150,000 or more for the Democratic nomination to the presidency, even if he knew positively that he would be defeated.

"If nominated, Mr. Bryan expects the circulation of his weekly magazine, the Commoner, to go to 1,000,000 subscribers. This would yield him a net personal profit of $280,000 per year.

"Like other shrewd political captains he may believe that if nominated he will be defeated, but wishes the nomination as an advertisement of his own private ventures, notwithstanding the fact that the Democratic party might stand a good chance of electing Johnson, if nominated is a question being asked.

"Like the alert man he is, he is profiting by his experience of the past, for Bryan knows the financial value of the presidential nomination. It has enabled him to make an income of $60,000 a year, exclusive of placing him in the same class with plutocratic life insurance and railroad presidents."

STATE DENTAL SOCIETY

Report of Yesterday's Proceedings of that Important Body

(Tampa Tribune, 22nd.)

In order to devote last night's session to the discussion of the proposed new laws of the society, which will be presented to the legislature at their next session, the Florida State Dental Society changed the original program by combining the afternoon and night sessions in the meeting yesterday afternoon.

Laws and amendments thereto were discussed pro and con, the session beginning at 8:15 o'clock and lasting until midnight. Dr. J. E. Chace, of Ocala was chairman pro tempore. The society, feeling a need of certain amendments to the present laws and in addition of other laws, covered the matter thoroughly and they may secure the legislation they deserve.

The opening session of the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the society was held yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, in the music room of the Tampa Bay hotel, which was participated in by several prominent Tampan and officers of the society. A special business session occupied the first hour of the meeting after which the general session was begun with an invocation by Rev. Wilson W. DeHart, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church. An address of welcome, on behalf of the city, in which the dentists were given the freedom of the city, was delivered by Hon. W. H. Frecker, mayor of the city of Tampa. One of Tampa's most prominent dentists, Dr. S. W. Allen, representing the dentists of Tampa, also delivered an address of welcome. Both addresses of welcome were responded to by Dr. James E. Chace, president of the society. The sessions of the opening day were well attended by the members of the society, and great interest is manifested in the meeting which promises to be the most successful ever held. After the annual address of President Chace, in which the work of the past year was reviewed and plans for betterment of the society suggested, the convention adjourned. At 2:30 o'clock the society reassembled and the program published yesterday was carried out, many interesting papers being read.
